

GROUP 1

PARTICIPANTS: Manuela Massafra (Cirillo), Gabriela Opońska, Camila Custódio , Farida Mansour, Maria Kobzev, Cake Huadpaknam, Filio

STORYTELLING ACTIVITY

TITLE: Alpha in the kitchen

CONTEXT:

The group is going to make a school project together. The topic is: women rights. There are two boys in the group who don't agree with the rest of the group (girls).

There is a group of students making a pamphlet on women's rights when, suddenly, James started to be rude.

James: I don't even know why we're doing this project. Women shouldn't have the same rights as men.

Christina: Why do you say that? That's so old-fashioned!

Ariana: Yeah, I agree! You have to be more open minded about this situation.

James starts laughing. Tom's observing this situation and thinks to himself that he should do something about it.

James: Go to the kitchen. Women deserve nothing.

Ariana: Yeah, I'll go to the kitchen and wait for you to cook for me.

Christina : Oh Okay! So all the things that have been done in the past are useless! A lot of women go through troubles and they've been discriminated for what they do.

Tom (mediator): James, why are you fighting with the girls so much?

James (only to Tom): Look at Ariana, she's too strong and independent. Girls normally don't behave like that.

Tom: James, I know you like her but can't be so arrogant. It's not how you get a girl.

James: She's so bossy, dude.

Ariana to Tom : Why is he so disrespectful? Can't he handle girls that are superior?

Tom: We are all equal guys. Why do we have to argue about this?

Christina: He is trying to be an alpha male. Am I wrong?

Tom: Guys, let's finish this fight. Everyone has equal rights and lives their own life. Everyone has their own opinion and we should respect that. It would be better if you keep it to yourself. Let's get to work :)